early day-before the Exposition opens, if possible. Let us invite some eminent and specially well-informed orator to explain to us the advantages of the Demo cratic tariff bill over the McKinley bill. Give him ample time and full scope to discuss the situation, so that a great leaven of interest may be spread through-

Since the publication of our article yesterday, urging that we Democrats proceed to open the campaign with a big meeting, we have heard numbers of voters express approval of the suggestion. The people are in a frame of mind to hear a good, comprehensive, well-knit, practical, and patriotic Democratic campaign

A Word for Banks and Bankers.

"It is the institution in each community which constitutes the greatest source of business activity and successful enterprise. It gathers to itself the idle capital which everywhere abounds, and directs it in channels of trade alike profitable to borrower and to lender, and makes it of benefit to all. Conducted upon right lines and free from dishonest methods, it more than all other business undertakings distributes a people's wealth, and makes each and every dollar of the country's currency an efficient aid in discharging the largest number of obligations. Its prosperity is the prosperity of those whose agency it is, and its distresses, with equal force, fall upon the varied interests centering in it."

After talking for some minutes, I suggested that we go and get supper. Mr. Newcomb replied that he was very tired and hardly thought he would eat any supper and intended going to bed early so as to get a good night's rest. I left him and went to supper. Just as I finished eating the boat stopped at Canton. I returned to the deck to see Mr. Newcomb. Not finding him where I had left him, I prosecuted my search no further, and did not see him any more."

the boat reached that point; and if he was not drowned what reason can be assigned for his disappearance?

The same reliable authority from whom the above facts were elicited said to-day that Mr. Newcomb's estate was solvent; that the estate amounted to about $15,000, and that his indebtedness was not more than $5,000. In fact, the aggregate amount of his indebtedness known to-day amounted to about $2,200, $1,500 of which being due to creditors in this city.

IN OPEN COURT.

It is well to remember, however, that they had expressed opinions in the case, but that their opinions were merely hypothetical and would not in any way interfere with their verdict. The defence meets with considerable difficulty in the case, from the fact that several of the grounds claimed for a new trial are directly contradicted by the prisoner's own statement on oath. The fourth instruction for the defence, which was rejected by the Court, and is one of the bills of exception, directly contradicts the prisoner's statement in its most important particulars, presupposing a sudden and violent passion which the prisoner swore.

Charlottesville was selected as the place for holding the next annual convention, and the last week in September as the time, Mrs. J. W. Newton was rejected State organizer, and was also elected delegate-at-large to the national convention of the union, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. R. H.
